Brrrr...it's been colder here in Lancaster than it has been in Pedro Bay, Alaska! Different parts of Alaska experience different temperature ranges, snow amounts and light/dark amounts. It's not all total dark and negative 60 during the winter!

January was a month full of multiple new ventures.

I'm helping to plan the LightShine benefit dinner coming up on March 12.

Please join us for a night of delicious food, an update on ministry happenings and a guest speaker. Ken Thomas, an Alaskan bush pilot, will share some of his experiences with us. The event will be held at the Lancaster Alliance Church from 5:30-8:30pm. Please let me know if you'd like to attend!

And, I've taken on the role of office manager for LightShine. I'm learning each step, one at a time. Most of it is new to me, but I think I'm catching on!

Outside of LightShine, I've also committed to helping a ministry in Kensington, Philadelphia. They take a group of volunteers, once a month, to serve breakfast to homeless women and show them the love God has for them. I'm nervous, but I know God has called me to serve in this way.

Finally, I am still working on organizing the two teams I am leading to Alaska this summer! Planning is going well. There may still be room if you're interested, contact me ASAP.

I will be sending out my yearly fundraising letters in the next couple of weeks. More and more I am considering myself a full time missionary. Working all year here in PA, and for a few weeks in Alaska! I appreciate your support!

Most importantly, please pray for...

The fundraising banquet

My new role as office manager

The forming teams for summer

My trip to Kensington

And for my spirit to be encouraged

*When I finished writing this, I was told that one of my LightShine mentors, the man that was training me to take his position, suddenly passed away. We take comfort that he is now with Jesus, but please pray for his family and for our whole LightShine family during this time.
