He is Risen!

I hope you all had a peaceful, joyful Easter, reflecting on Christ's sacrifice and what it means for YOU. For myself, I began to think about how I am living my life - in light of that sacrifice. I know we can't earn His forgiveness and grace, but am I living like I'm thankful for it? When I'm truly thankful for an amazing gift, something that I don't deserve, I should be showing that gratitude by the way I live and love. I should be sharing that great gift with others. Not just "should", I WANT to! I'm so incredibly thankful, it just spills over. I pray that spirit of gratitude over those who need it today.

Colossians 2:6-7

6 So then, just as you received Christ Jesus as Lord, continue to live your lives in him, 7 rooted and built up in him, strengthened in the faith as you were taught, and overflowing with thankfulness.

Things are really starting to pick up with LightShine teams. My first team, to Camp AN, will be leaving on June 1st. I really wanted to get 1 more team member to go with me, as I am now traveling alone to Alaska. But, I suppose God had other plans. I need to trust that He has built the team just the way He wants it. I'm preparing for this trip to be pretty rustic, sleeping in cold weather and limited access to showers. In light of that information, I've put together a little bit of a list of things I need to make it happen! Thank you, those that have already given!

Thank you also to those who gave last month to Bride Breakfast in Kensington. I had a huge trunk load for them! They will be going again on April 18 and I am praying about whether I will be going along. I'm also praying that God would send someone to me that wants to serve with me in this particular mission field.

Please continue to pray for my involvement in these ministries. I'm so thankful for each of you! For your encouragement, your prayers, and your financial support. We are all part of the body, doing what God has equipped each of us to do! I'm still compiling a list of those that can commit to praying for specific things that come up leading up to and during these trips. If you would like to cover my team in prayer, please let me know.
